Nuclear plants nationwide will soon be required to remain at the highest level

Sun-Sentinel
Posted February 20 2002, 5:41 PM EST

Nuclear plants nationwide will soon be required to remain at the highest level of alert indefinitely and implement additional measures to tighten security, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission said.

Since Sept. 11, nuclear plants, including the three in Florida, have maintained high levels of alert just in case of a terrorist attack. The NRC order follows a "top to bottom" review of nuclear security measures conducted since September, said Rosetta Virgilio, a NRC spokeswoman.
